Heritage Days 2011

Sacajawea State Park 2503 Sacajawea Park Rd. Pasco, WA 99301

We are sure to have another great time at Heritage Days for 2011. Heritage Days is a living history event that brings the past to the present. Along with mountain man re-enactors, there is a Lewis & Clark Corps. of Discovery camp, historical presentations by museums and other community organizations, and a heritage stage show. A highlight of the event is the visit by over 1,500 school children on Friday of the event.

Sacajawea State Park is located on the confluence of the Snake and Columbia Rivers just east of Pasco, Washington. This oasis in the desert has lush shade trees and lawn, with scenic views of the river. You can expect friendly people and really fun nightly council fires at this event.
